

Love at first click

There are many dating platforms on the internet. It is impossible to list all dating platforms. But the most popular platforms are: Tinder, Lovoo, Bumble, OKCupid, Hinge, Coffee Meets Bagel.

Comparing different online dating websites

For example, let us compare Tinder and Lovoo, they both are popular worldwide. In Tinder you are swipe to the left or right. If you are interested in a person you just swipe to the right, the person is getting a message where it says that you are interested and want to contact the person, but when you are not interested in that person you swipe to the left. In Lovoo you have map, and it shows all people in a radius, you could be interested in. There is also a radar that shows you who's near to your location. Lovoo Live allows you to share videos with members and watch theirs too.

Their positive and negative Aspects

Positive Aspects:

1. It's easier to meet someone new.
2. You can find your perfect partner faster.
3. You don't need to travel to meet someone.
4. It's easy to make an account.
5. You can choose the person you want to meet. (blonde hair, blue eyes)

Negative Aspects:

1. You could forget how to speak to a person.
2. Fake Accounts (for example: unrealistic appearance or underaged people).
3. You could get scammed.

Why are dating platforms so popular

The dating platforms are popular, because it is simple to use, when a person is shy or has problems to speak about love, you can just chat with the person, send pictures and send voice messages. The dating platforms are also so popular because you are connected to the whole world.
